School Census Shows Increase

Result of Enumeration Gives Astoria 3010 Under School Age Exceeding 1902 by 400

E. Z. Ferguson, clerk of the board of education has completed the work of enumerating the annual school census, and the figures show an increase over last year that would make President Roosevelt's heart leap with joy were he in the city at the present time and as enthusiastic on the race problem as he was during his recent tour through the Pacific Northwest. Astoria has 2010 names inscribed on the school census for 1903, an increase of more than 400 since the last census was taken.

The work of enumeration has been done with dispatch, says Mr. Ferguson, and the result is more than gratifying. The school apportionment for the state will be based on the new census, which means that the Astoria public schools will derive a much larger income from the state school funds.

Probably no better indication of the growth of a city can be obtained than through the medium of the annual school census. If the attendance shows a substantial increase it stands to reason that there has been an increase in the number of new settlers, and the larger the school attendance the larger the population. Conservative men with families of young children in solving the problem of where to settle have learned to make inquiries concerning the public schools of the towns or cities where they contemplate taking up residence. If the school attendance is large and the facilities for teaching the children good, which must include competent teachers and adequate school accommodations, the man feels that he is safe in going there, but if the school statistics show a falling off he at once becomes suspicious because the very fact that there is a falling off in that quarter suggests decrease in business pursuits, and the source from which he expects to derive an income for the support of his family.

The school census for Astoria just compiled offers as good an indication to the prospective settler as the shipping statistics or other pertinent matter dealing with the advancement of the city.

The blank bonds for the new issue of $35,000 were received from the printer by E. Z. Ferguson yesterday, and will at once be filled out. This formality duly observed, the money for the refunding of the old bonds will be paid over to the directors.

POPE GREAT DIPLOMAT.

Rev. Urban Fisher, O. S. B., professor of chemistry, philosophy and physiology, at the Mt. Angel Institute was in the city yesterday calling on Rev. Father Waters, of St. Mary's church. Rev. Fisher leaves today for Tillamook where he will spend two weeks assisting the resident priest. In conversation with a reporter of The Astorian, he paid eloquent tribute to the dying pontiff, Leo XIII, and spoke of the wonderful diplomatic ability and achievements of the head of the Roman Catholic church. He said: "Pope Leo is in my opinion the foremost diplomat in the world today. Even those who profess a different faith than he concede him that much, and his humble life, piety and self-denial have been the theme of thousands of sermons that will appeal to the hearts of the people when classics fail. He has surrounded himself with learned men, and at the Vatican today are to be found some of the most able statesmen in the world. In all his dealings with foreign powers he has been eminently successful and his death will prove a world calamity. I can only hazard a guess as to his successor, but I think Cardinal Gotti is the man. Whether it be Gotti or Rampolla, the conclave will make no mistake, as both are learned men, able statesmen, and well adapted in all ways to ascend the papal throne. Like Leo, they are the scholars, and we all know that the dying pontiff has written in the classics poetry and prose that rank with the productions of Horace."

J. W. Belcher, formerly of this city is meeting with unusual success in music circles of Portland where his home now is. His work was first with the First Congregational church which he later gave up to accept the position of leading tenor with the cathedral. For three years he has sung for the Catholics and the Jewish synagogue. Recently he assumed charge of the choir of the First Baptist church, the White Temple. Mr. Belcher is busy now organizing the choir which will be a quartette assisted by a chorus on special occasions. His choir promises to be the best in the northwest as only high priced musicians will be employed. Mr. Belcher has been sojourning at Long beach for the past few days. He will return to Portland today.

JOSEPH PULTZER IN PORT

PILOT SCHOONER TO UNDERGO OVERHAULING AND BE SUCCEED BY THE SAN JOSE.

The pilot schooner Joseph Pulitzer came in yesterday from a 15 day's cruise on the bar with pilots Matthews and McVicar on board. The Pulitzer will stay inside for some weeks for the purpose of being overhauled and her outside is to be taken by the San Jose. This vessel has been lying at the O. R. & N. dock for several weeks and has been put in fine condition for service. It has not been decided just what pilots will go out on her and the exact date of her departure is also not known. The bar was reported by the Pulitzer to have been exceedingly smooth with no sail in sight when she put inside.

The Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company has filed suit in the circuit court to obtain possession of the property in Schively's addition upon which the Prael & Cook Transfer Company's stables are located. M. D. Staples and the H. F. Prael Company are made defendants in the suit. The statement of the case gives the history of the property from the year 1865, and the claim of the O. R. & N. is based on the statement that as the successor of the Astoria Farmer's Company it is entitled to the land which is more specifically described as the north 55 feet of lots five and six, block 123, Shively's addition.

A private cablegram to Port Townsend from Sidney, N. S. W., brings news of the safety of Captain Oertel of the wrecked German bark Edith that sailed from this port lumber-laden for port Pierre. The Edith struck the Nereus shoal, a reef northwest of Cleodonia during a terrific gale and broke up March 19. The crew escaped in the boats but Captain Oertel and 11 men had been given up for lost until the receipt of news to the effect that the party had, after heroic effort, succeeded in reaching Richmond.

The government tug George H. Mendell is now ready to render active service, her boilers having been thoroughly repaired. After the Mendell has completed making soundings at the mouth of the river she will be put on at Young's bay where the dredging is proposed to be done. This improvement has been much sought after and its completion will be of marked benefit to the lower harbor.

The O. R. & N. steamer Columbia arrived in yesterday evening from San Francisco at about noon. The steamer carried a good passenger list and a large amount of freight, the principal consignment for this port being fruit.

The barkentine Tam O'Shanter arrived in yesterday evening from California. She will load lumber for an outward cargo.

After a run of five days the barkentine Chehalis has reached San Francisco with lumber from this port.

The six-year old boy of Martin Stanovich strayed away from home Monday night and was not located for several hours. His anxious mother came down town and reported the matter to the police and the neighborhood in the vicinity of the saw mill was secured but the child was not found. After an absence of about seven hours he returned home, jubilant over his freedom and the company of youngsters with whom he had passed away the time. He had been playing in the saw mill behind some timber.

Defense Wants Change Venue

Attorneys Claim That Lane and Smith are Victims of Prejudice Inspired by Newspapers

Motion for change of venue was filed in the circuit court yesterday in behalf of the defendants, Josiah S. Smith and John Lane, by their attorneys. The motion is based on an affidavit which sets forth that the defendants have been deprived of the right of a fair and impartial trial in this county by reason of certain newspaper articles that have inspired prejudice in the minds of those who may have read them. The motion will be argued before Judge McBride this morning and a decision rendered. In the event of the court denying the motion the trial will proceed this being the date set for it.

Judge McBride signed an order yesterday directing the sheriff to draw a special venire of seven jurors who are to appear in court this morning. This completes the regular panel of 24 jurors, there being 17 remaining over from the previous panel.

The principal witnesses in the prosecution reached the city yesterday, among them being Mrs. Mary E. Hinton; of San Francisco, an alleged victim of the defendants, C. L. Perkins, and E. W. Lues, of Contra Costa county, California, who are said to be able to give damaging testimony in the case. Attorney Donovan of San Francisco has arrived and will assist in the defense. Other witnesses from the outside subpoenaed by the state are Dr. Rockey of San Francisco, and J. H. Dennis and another, from Seattle.

Judge McBride has no other criminal cases on the docket for trial this term of court, and the services of the jurors will be dismissed as soon as a jury is impaneled in each of these two cases.

Miss Jessie Jewett, a student of a New York school for opera, will give a concert in Fishers' opera house on the evening of the 21st of this month. Miss Jewett will be assisted in the concert by the leading musicians of Portland. The evening promises to be a rare treat as the talent will be of the very best. Obtainable. Miss Jewett has made great progress in her chosen field of work and will continue her course of studies next season. She will remain here during the summer months.

What is said to be the largest and oldest pear tree in America is in Michigan near Lake Erie. It is supposed to have been planted by the French when they first settled that country. Five feet above the ground this tree measures 13 feet in circumference, and is sixty-five feet high. It is said also to be a prolific bearer, that rarely fails of crop.
